Exhibit 51

It is snowing now. I think the latest forecast has 1-3 inches today. Then maybe an inch or less tonight and again tomorrow. Suppose to get real cold the next number of days with highs in the teens at best, I think single digits on Wednesday.

Brian,

Thanks that will help us in our review of the RAMACO Brook Mine submittal. Did you get snow?

Doug,

I forgot to give you a note while you were here regarding highwall mining. Some things that are in Bridger's and Black Butte's permits regarding highwall mining are the following

1. A Ground Control Plan that is approved by MSHA,
2. A Geotechnical study which addresses subsidence and potential impacts to any private and/or public facilities.
3. A map that illustrates entry and pillar spacing as well as entry length.
