

Michael Bond

These new regulations will promote cost-effective technologies to prevent waste, making natural gas more economically competitive as consumers demand cleaner energy sources.