

Wallace Ulrich

As Wyoming's former State Geologist I have been and remain very concerned about the rampant loss of methane through poor management, preventable waste, low priority regarding field-wide safety, neglectful operators- a legislature failure to prioritize & fund...all contribute to massive financial loss for Wyomingites.

Wyoming is not caring for this valuable resource. Simple field inspections in a consistent way and conducted periodically, without notice should be increased by Legislative funding and conducted by the State Geologists staff.