

Margo Brown

I'm asking that this agency comply with the Wyoming Environmental Quality Act's core mandate of open records to make all agency information available to the public without charging an access fee, and that they not charge fees to the public related to records that are a part of an agency permitting, enforcement, or rulemaking process, where the public needs to have access to the information to participate in DEQ's comment processes; and that they produce records faster and make them more available to the public rather than less available. The DEQ is working for all of us, so it needs to continue to be a public agency.