

Karla Bird

Methane is a critical emission from oil and gas activities in Wyoming. In Sublette County our air quality is directly affected by emissions and local Industry has been working hard to monitor and manage methane.

It's important to not pretend that methane emissions are harmless or that control is too expensive for industry- whose profits are at all time highs.