

Gina Heninger

The processes resulting from these new rules will help reduce other harmful pollutants such as volatile organic compounds (VOCs) that cause respiratory damage and contribute to poor air quality.