

Amy Jones

We care about and protect our citizens and our government. There is no way around the findings. Methane pollution is dangerous for the environment, unhealthy for our people, needlessly wastes our resources and contributes to climate change. I support Wyoming DEQ's efforts to develop new rules under Wyoming Air Quality Standards and Regulations in order to reduce harmful methane emissions from oil and gas operations.

Thank you, Wyoming DEQ's Air Quality Division for considering my comments.