

Triennial Review of Wyoming's Surface Water Quality Standards

Proposed Recreation Designated Uses Web Map

February 2025

Prepared by:
Wyoming Department of Environmental Quality
Water Quality Division
Watershed Section

The Wyoming Department of Environmental Quality has developed a Proposed Recreation Designated Uses Web Map to reflect proposed changes to Water Quality Rules, Chapter 1, Wyoming Surface Water Quality Standards. The changes include:

- Modification of the recreation designated use name “primary contact recreation” to “full body contact water recreation;”
- Modification of the recreation designated use name “secondary contact recreation” to “limited body contact water recreation;” and
- Modification of waters previously depicted at Class 1 to “full body contact water recreation.”

The Web Map can be accessed at the following site:

<https://gis.deq.wyo.gov/portal/apps/webappviewer/index.html?id=076b56422fcc4d75a8dfed298e6c524a>

Additional details regarding the proposed changes are included in Triennial Review of Wyoming’s Surface Water Quality Standards, Supplementary Guidance to Statement of Principal Reasons.

Recommended Citation: WDEQ-WQD. February 2025. Triennial Review of Wyoming’s Surface Water Quality Standards. Proposed Recreation Designated Uses Web Map. Wyoming Department of Environmental Quality, Water Quality Division, Cheyenne, Wyoming.